INDIGENOUS FIRST LOOK VIEWBOOK
Calgary, Alberta, Canada 🇨🇦 surround yourself with possibility

We acknowledge the traditional territories of the people of the Treaty 7 region in Southern Alberta, which includes the Siksika, the Piikuni, the Kainai, the Tsuu T’ina, and the Stoney Nakoda First Nations. The University of Calgary is situated on land adjacent to where the Bow River meets the Elbow River. The traditional Blackfoot name of this place is “Mohkinstsis,” which we now call the City of Calgary. The City of Calgary is also home to the Métis Nation of Alberta, Region III.

Our campus offers 526 acres of space where you can live, learn, and stretch your mind. Choosing to study here means you’ll be studying at one of Canada’s top research institutions. We know that a rewarding university experience is about achieving balance both inside and outside the classroom, and we’ll support and encourage you throughout your student experience.

Outside the classroom, you’ll have access to top-notch extra-curricular enrichment activities and student support services. This includes our Native Centre, which works to foster and sustain a vibrant Indigenous presence on campus. Over the course of your time with us, we’ll help you nurture lifelong interests so you’re prepared to take on the challenge of current and emerging career paths.
how to apply

1. Review our programs and identify your top two choices. Admission is specific to each program, but all programs require senior level high school English and four other faculty specific courses. Check the admission requirements for both programs at ucalgary.ca/registrar/requirements.

4. Apply for scholarships and awards. Our prestige award deadline is Dec. 15, 2017 and the deadline to apply for all other high school awards is March 1, 2018. Visit ucalgary.ca/registrar/finances/awards.

5. Submit your transcripts and required documents. If you’re in your senior year, submit your interim results by March 15, 2018 for an admission decision. Admission offers are conditional. You must maintain your academic standing, complete all your grade 12 (or equivalent) course requirements, and provide your final official transcripts by Aug. 1, 2018. Visit ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/a-4-3.html.

6. Log in to your my.ucalgary.ca account and visit your Student Centre to check your application status. Add @ucalgary.ca to your safe sender list so you don’t miss important information and updates by email.

7. Accept your offer of admission in your my.ucalgary.ca account and pay your $500 non-refundable admission deposit. This deposit will be applied to your fall tuition fees.

8. Apply for residence. High school applicants who apply for residence by May 1, 2018 are guaranteed a home on-campus for two years. Visit ucalgary.ca/residence.

Native Centre

As the hub of Indigenous life on campus, the Native Centre encourages and supports student success through a wide variety of services, facilities, programs, and events.

- Indigenous Student Orientation: workshops and activities will help you become familiar with the university before starting classes
- Aboriginal Student Access Program (ASAP): one-year introductory transition program to UCalgary degree programs
- Aboriginal Student Success Empowerment and Re-Engagement Training (ASSERT): customized leadership training, as well as academic, cultural, and peer support
- Cultural events: Indigenous knowledge lecture series, pipe ceremonies, tipi-raising workshops, Indigenous Awareness Week, social gatherings, and more
- Graduation Banquet and Pow-Wow: Indigenous graduates participate in a traditional pow-wow that includes a Circle of Honour, where they receive ceremonial gifts and are celebrated by the community
- LYNX Aboriginal Student Career and Employment Program: helping Indigenous students and graduates find co-op placements, internships, summer jobs, and full-time positions
- Native Ambassador Post-Secondary Initiative (NAPI): become an ambassador in this community-based youth outreach program
- Student facilities: computer lab, Indigenous Students’ Council office, Red Lodge Student Lounge, study space, and a ceremonial room

Our Indigenous Admissions Process works to ensure equitable access and successful participation of undergraduate Indigenous learners.

When you apply for admission, you’ll first be considered under the program admission requirement criteria. Admission is specific to each program, but all programs will require Alberta English 30-1 (or equivalent) and four other faculty specific courses. If you’ve self-identified as Indigenous on your application form, you’ll automatically receive consideration under the Indigenous Admissions Process if needed. If you’re granted admission under this process, you may be asked to submit documentation to verify your Indigenous identity prior to registering for classes.

Self-identification also allows us to support you through your admissions process, assist you with academic advising and referrals, and provide you with updates about our many cultural and social activities.

Visit ucalgary.ca/future-students/undergraduate/aboriginal-students to learn more.

Aboriginal Student Access Program

This transition-year program offers an alternative access route for Indigenous students to enter our post-secondary degree programs. In addition to taking first-year university courses, you’ll also receive cultural and peer supports, academic advising, and access to tutorials. To gain admission to ASAP, you’ll need to have completed grade 12 English (Alberta Education English 30-1 or equivalent) with a mark of 65 per cent or higher.

Visit ucalgary.ca/nativecentre/prospective-students/asap to learn more. You can also email asap@ucalgary.ca.

Apply Now to Live in Residence

From shared dorm-style rooms to townhomes for students who live with their partner and/or children, we offer numerous on-campus housing options to suit your needs. Just steps from your classroom, you’ll find your fully-furnished accommodations that include Wi-Fi, all utilities, and access to student tutoring services.

If you’re a student entering directly from high school, apply by May 1, 2018 to guarantee yourself a room in residence for your first two years (some conditions apply). Explore all your options at ucalgary.ca/residence.

Adult Students

You may be considered an adult student applicant if you’re 21 years of age or older and haven’t completed any previous post-secondary coursework.

Visit ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/a-5-4.html for details.
Scholarships, Bursaries and Awards

If you’re entering university directly from high school, apply for admission and complete our high school awards application to be considered for all applicable awards.

Award Application Deadlines:

• Dec. 15, 2017 - prestige awards
• March 1, 2018 - other entrance scholarships and awards

For detailed information on applying for scholarships, bursaries and awards, visit ucalgary.ca/registrar/finances/awards.

First Nations, Inuit, and Métis applicants are eligible to apply for a variety of funding options that include First Nations community-based sponsorship, Indigenous student scholarships, bursaries and awards.
